

InspiredTeaching Residency

- Experience a residency year that seamlessly connects theory and practice by training in classrooms of lead teachers.
- Learn to be an Instigator of Thought[®], teaching students how to think, not what to think.
- Receive intensive classroom mentoring: constructive feedback, instructional coaching, and personal support.
- Earn a Master of Arts in Teaching through a customized program of graduate coursework & a DC teaching license in early childhood, elementary, or inclusive elementary education
- Join a network of educational changemakers, and influence the education landscape both inside and outside of the classroom.
- Serve as an AmeriCorps member, joining a national network of individuals committed to public service, and earn a financial education award.

“As a new teacher this year, I can proudly say that I am not survival teaching. Without the support and training from Inspired Teaching, this would not have been possible.”
